SES Public Statement on Impartiality

SES has built its reputation on providing high-quality, independent verification services. SES has an unyielding commitment to impartiality in verification of greenhouse gas (GHG) assertions. SES understands that the value of a GHG assertion is based on the competence and impartiality of the body that is verifying the assertion. SES ensures the objectivity of verification activities by reviewing each new verification opportunity for potential conflict of interest. SES adheres strictly to all applicable rules regarding impartiality and conflict of interest, including the requirements of International Standard ISO 14065 - Section 5.4.2.
